Exhibitions

Currently on display: Fragile Figures: Beings and Time

Fragile Figures: Beings and Time illuminates the range and complexity of human emotions, revealing intersections between vulnerability and power – social, cultural, and political-- in contemporary portraiture. Individual and group identity, and the forces that shape how we see self and other, are approached through direct references to noted works from art history, connection past events to current issues.

GRAY & DUDLEY

GRAY & DUDLEY

Paying homage to the building's past life as the Gray & Dudley Hardware Company, the re-imagined restaurant and lounge space embraces and celebrates high and low, new and old. Adjacent museum galleries exhibiting contemporary art foster exploration over cocktails or following a meal filled with heartfelt hospitality.

Matt Bell is the executive chef at Gray & Dudley, located in the 21c Museum Hotel in Nashville, Tennessee. Bell fell in love with Southern cuisine and culture when he moved to the region in 2005 from his home state of Montana. He studied at the Texas Culinary Academy in Austin, TX and later moved to Little Rock, AR, where he began his career at Ashley's, an upscale Southern restaurant inside the esteemed Capital Hotel.
